Los Angeles, California 1971

University High School

A noted writer and philosopher once remarked that he was excited just to be alive and part of the world of his day. It has been exciting just to be a part of Uni this year as we embarked on an innovative educational experiment. As school communities, staffs, and students seek new and better ways to pass on the heritage of the past and prepare its youth for the future, it was inevitable that Uni with its creative staff and student body would be caught up in innovative approaches to education.

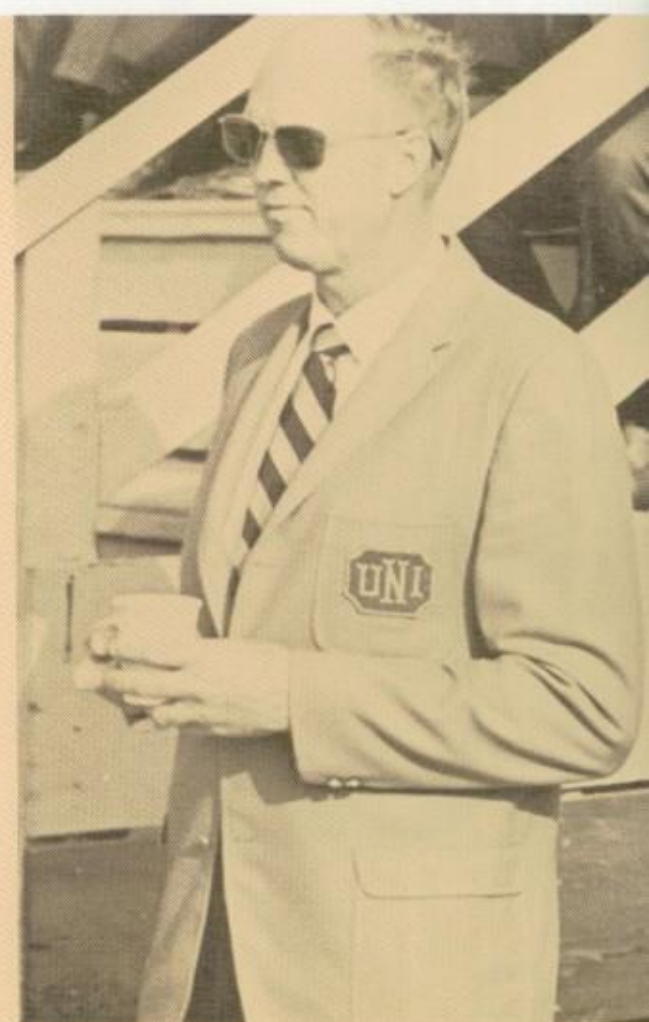

With the background of several years of adding experimental courses and trials at new approaches to grading and scheduling, Uni embarked on the Innovative School Program, a radically different concept of learning. Although the experiment initially involved only 150 students, the carry-over to the entire staff and student body was both valuable and stimulating.

Again this year we witnessed many outstanding achievements by Uni students including athletic championships; changes and improvements in the student government program; honors in journalism, forensics, and the fine arts; and the development of all-school programs to solve some of the problems of our society such as ecology, human relations, and communications. These events, recorded so graphically in this beautiful yearbook will serve as a constant reminder of the many outstanding accomplishments of Uni's staff and student body during 1970-71.

To the graduating seniors of the Gandalf class, our congratulations and thanks for the many things you have done to make Uni a better school and the leadership you have shown in every phase of the school curricular and co-curricular program. It has been said that the best measure of any individual or class is whether the school is better or worse for their contributions and efforts. Your class has certainly met this test and we can say as you graduate that Uni is a better school because you cared and worked to make it that way.

Ed Jackson — Student Body President

"No activities are better than old ones!"

This is the feeling, as a whole, of the Uni High students. Good concerts, good assemblies, and well planned entertainment makes a modern Uni High student happy. These activities shouldn't necessarily relate to education in the school. Everyone knows that school is a place to learn, and unless we get a good education, it is hard to get anywhere in life.

There also should be something in school to help relieve the boring hours. Going back and forth to the same classes has driven students insane.

Staggered or modified scheduling can open the way toward a more interesting class period, but as anything that is related to school, it will become a bore as soon as the novelty wears off.

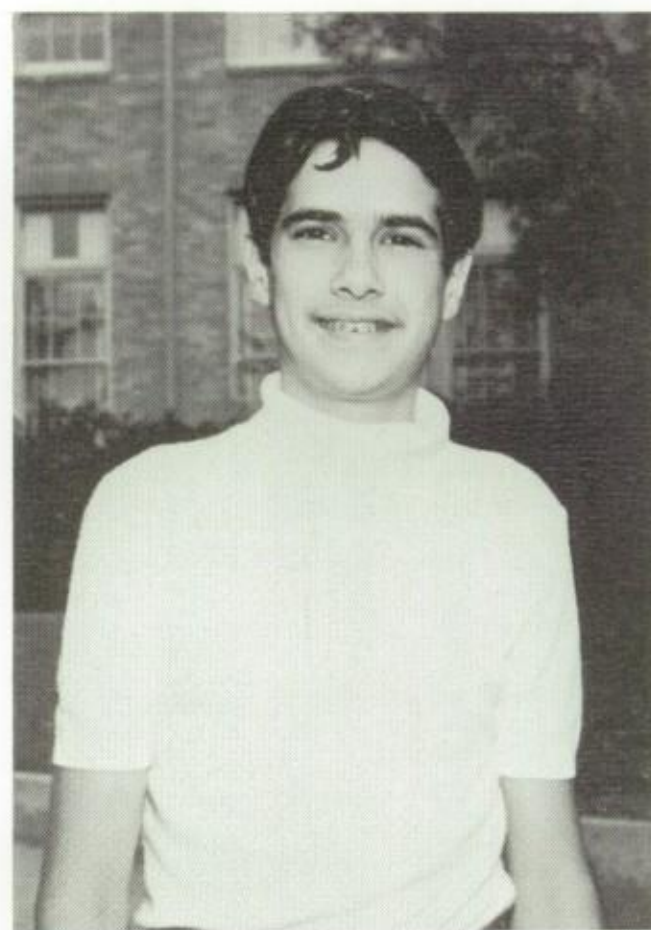

This year, Uni was the first Los Angeles school to start an Innovative Program School. This school within a school, to help make the subjects more relevant and non-competitive. In short, an atmosphere where students can get the most academically and socially from their school. This year seemed to be a great success. Its real success won't be known until the present tenth graders in this program graduate through the I.P.S., and then show the colleges, and the world, what they got out of the program.

Instead of boring you with Mickey Mouse activities, I tried to relax the tension of school with a Noon Concert Series, which were free concerts at lunch.

The PBU concert associates were formed for better concerts. Beverly Hills and Palisades, along with University High, pooled their money and resources toward getting top name groups.

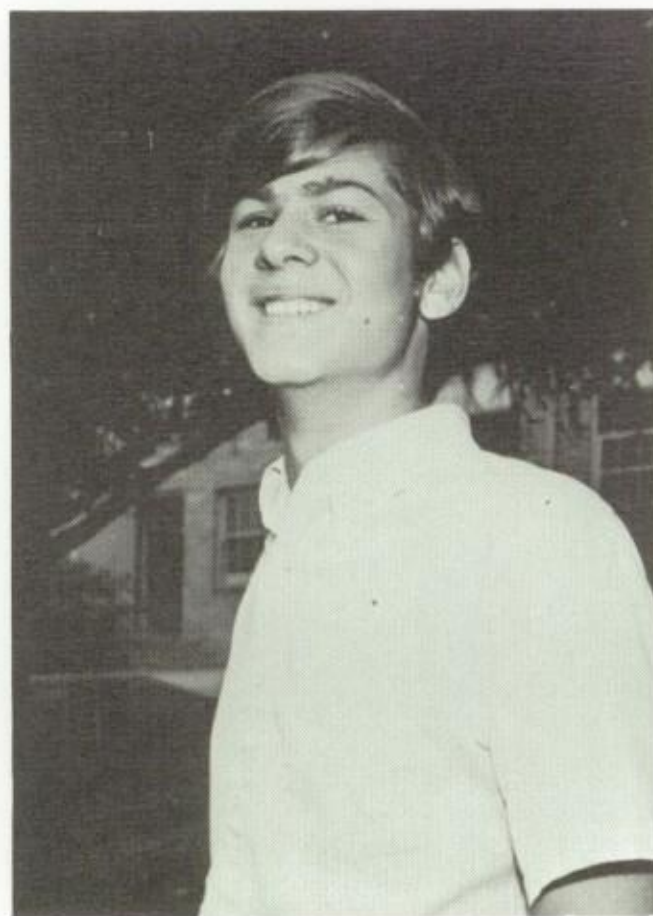

I really feel that homeroom voting is needed to help get lazy students back in the groove of Broad Spirit or Unity. I didn't say involvement, but rather unity which I believe is the support given to any student, teacher, or administrator who has an ideal of ideals that fit the needs and desires of our student body, classroom, and school.

Thank you for letting me be your president. I enjoyed working with and for you. Good luck in the future.

Coach Duane La Rue

The 1970 football season ended in disappointment as the Warriors went winless. Favored to win its first league championship in many years, the season turned out to be one of frustration for the players, coaches, and fans. What many will attribute to Uni's poor showing was the wave of injuries that hit the team. Starters Randy Dyer, Todd Thayer, and Bill Kabaker were lost before or as League competition began. But what hurt the team worst was the loss of reservists Leroy Beavers, John Nowitzki, and lingering injuries to starters and two-way performers, Scott Grandi and co-captains Dave Dutra and Tom Gudauskas. Thus ended the Warriors' chances of fielding a team with the advantage of depth in many positions.

The season opened with three practice games—first was Washington. Suffering first-game nerves and making many mistakes, the Warriors beat themselves, and lost 18-7. Next was seventh-ranked Huntington Park as Uni improved 100%. Running almost at will, the Warriors missed two conversion attempts and had their final drive stopped as the clock ran out, losing 21-19. Hollywood was our next foe in a game that was exciting from start to finish. On opening kickoff, Greg Garrison went 93 yards for a TD, as Uni scored first. The point-after attempt failed and Uni led 6-0. The Warriors went into the locker room with a 14-7 lead, after Brian Kingman's passing and the running of Steve Miller, Todd Thayer, and Eugene Philpott had led to another score. The Warriors returned, scored again, only to see the Shieks tie it up and score again with only two minutes left, winning 21-20.

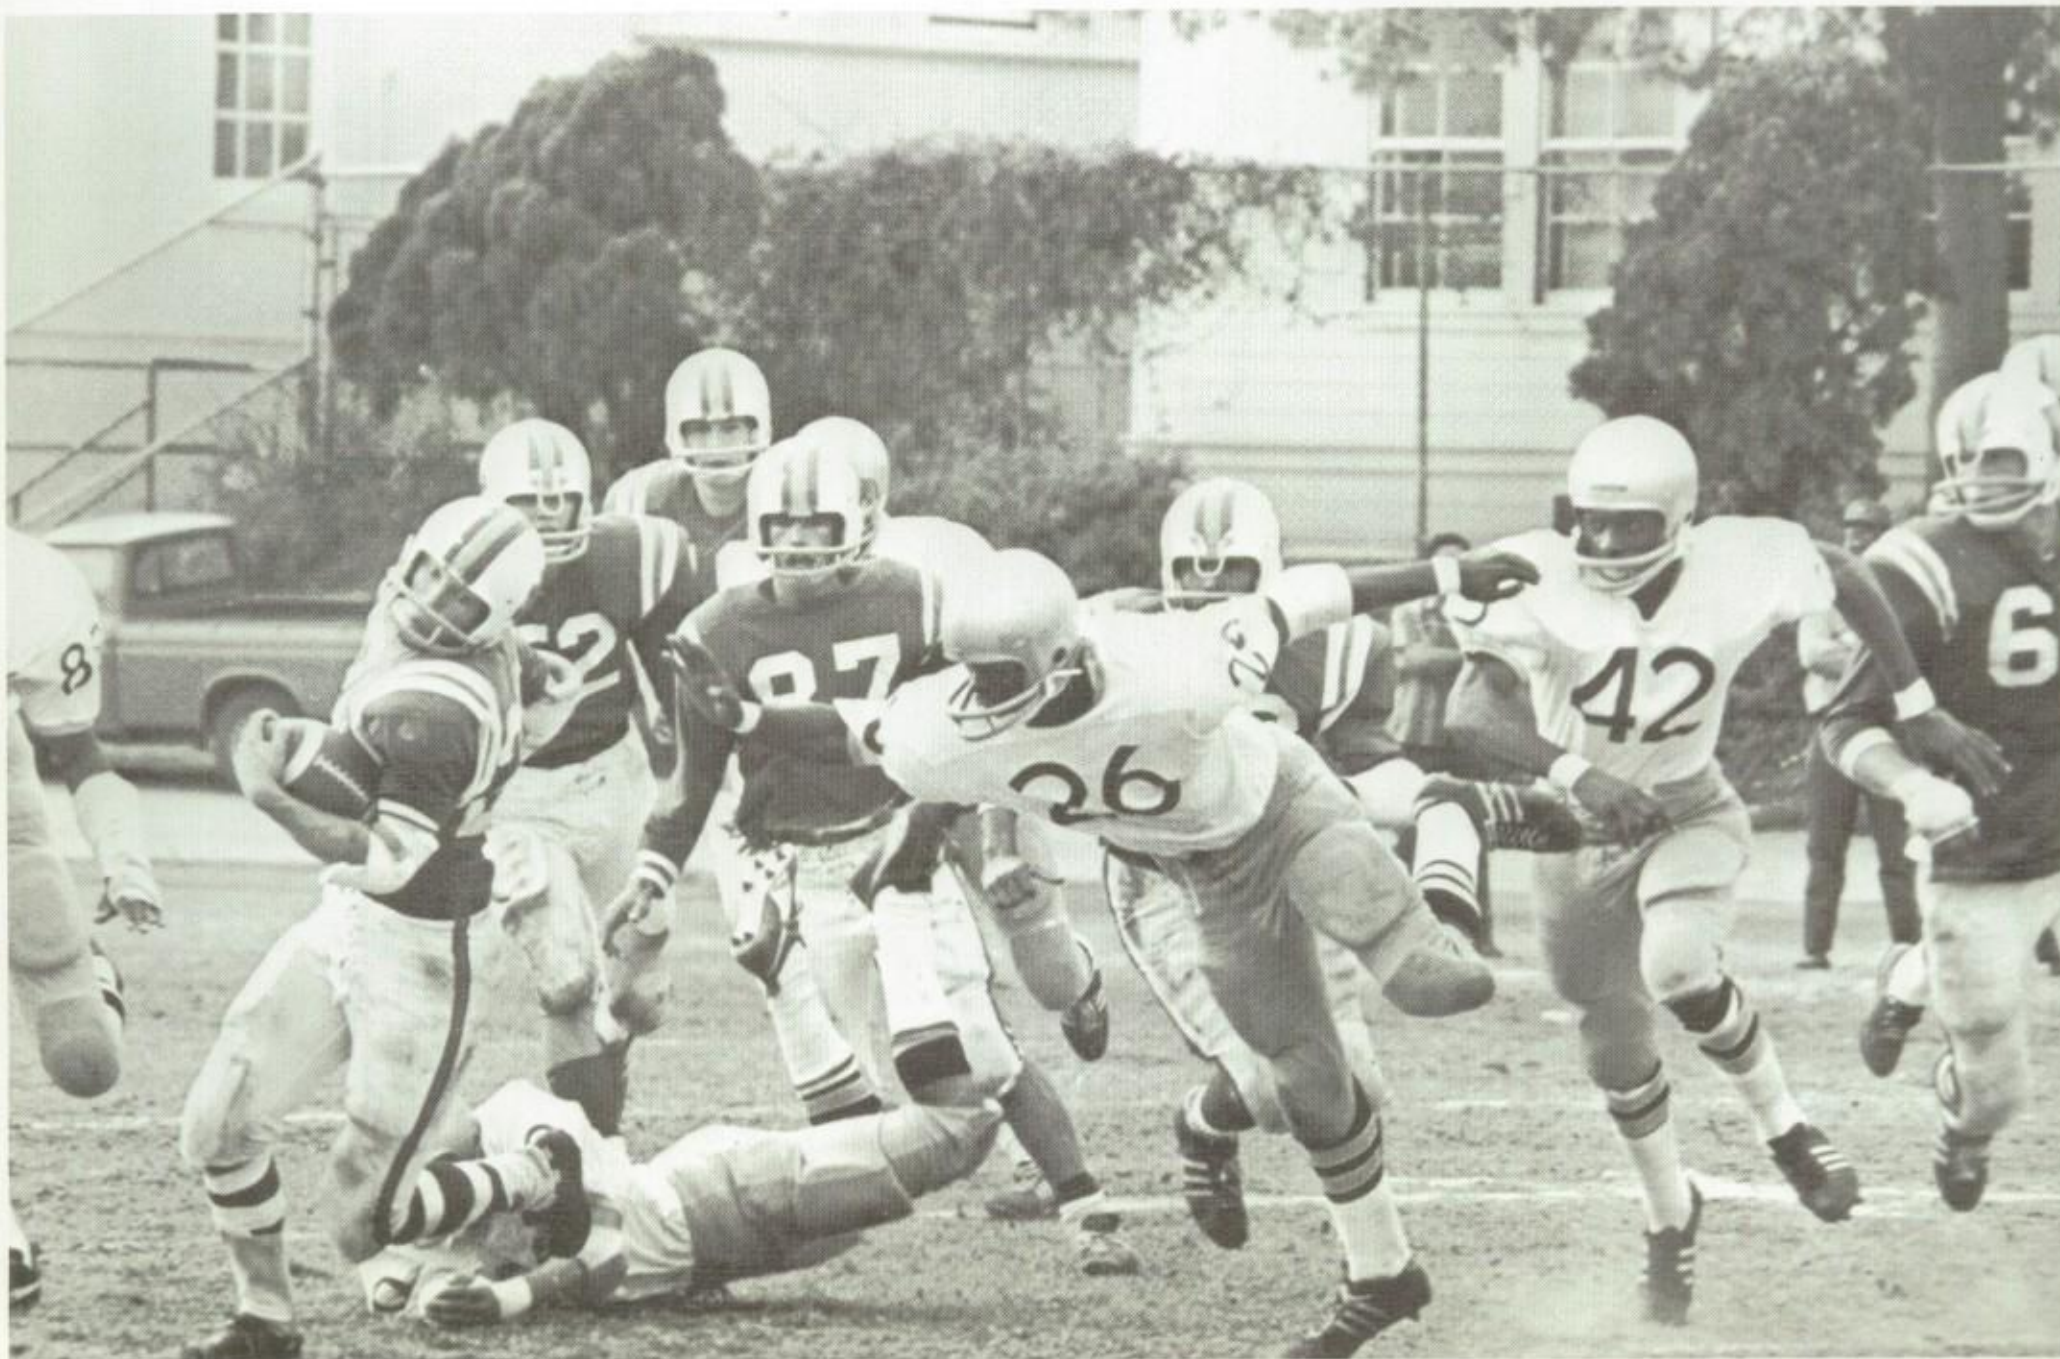

League began with Hamilton, as mistakes and a bogged down offense saw Uni lose 37-20. Crenshaw met Uni at home, as the Warriors ran up against one of the most physical teams in the city. After only five plays, Uni lost Thayer and Dyer, besides Kabaker and Nowitzki in practice that week. Recognition must be given to Randy Taylor, who, before the Crenshaw game, had played only JV. He did a fine job the remainder of the season at linebacker, as well as reserve linebacker Rick Watts, and QB Steve Hackbarth, who performed well when moved to end. Uni held in the first half, but the Cougars were too much for the shifted personnel of the Warriors, and Uni bowed 18-6.

Our first night game saw the Warriors lose 20-6 to Westchester as fumbles and interceptions again hurt the Warriors' chances. Uni went down in defeat at homecoming, in the mud against Palisades, 21-14. After trailing 14-0 at the half, the scrappy Warriors tied it at 14-14. But Pali scored on the resulting kickoff and again Uni simply ran out of time in the final drive. The season ended at Venice, which saw the Warriors lose 25-8.

Despite the poor record, it can never be said Uni had no talent. The first all-star team announced was the L.A. Times All West Side. The Warriors placed four; Dave Dutra—tackle, Matt Egger—center, Eugene Philpott—linebacker, and Tom Gudauskas—guard. Team honors, voted on by the players, were awarded at the annual football banquet, held December 9. Most Valuable—Eugene Philpott; Most Inspirational—Don Kreuter; "Scalphunter" award for Best Defensive Player—Ralph Primo; Most Valuable JV—Ken DeGarmo.

A disappointing season, yes. But a season without pride, no. The Warrior gridders may not have won one game, but Uni was never out-hit and never gave up. The Coaches' watchword all season was pride and you will not find a single player on the team that is not proud of the team, the Coaches, or the players themselves. Next year looks promising, as the Varsity returns 7 Lettermen and some fine members of the Bee team and Junior Varsity.

Bee Football

Team

This year Uni's Bee football team, although with much potential, was lacking in experience. The members of the team constantly gave it 100% although they were constantly riddled by injuries and psychological problems. Bobby Skoro—quarterback, John Olney and Blyden Boyle—running backs, were all injured. The psychological problems came when Coach Roger Braasch left his coaching position and the team members had to become accustomed to a whole new way of coaching. Next semester will surely begin to show the potential of many of the players.

Varsity Cross Country,

"I am prouder of this championship than I have even been of any of our other eight League Championships. This is because we were rated no higher than third at the beginning of the season. We had a small squad and were lucky not to lose anyone due to injuries. Each dual meet was a must. If we lost one we would have lost our momentum. We have gone farther with less experience and raw talent than with any team in Uni history. This a tribute to the dedicated daily workouts."

Cross Country

Coach Tom Anderson

The Warriors, headed by Coach Tom Anderson, former Emerson Junior High P.E. teacher, opened League competition by narrowly beating Hamilton in a sloppily played game. Co-Captain Bob Herndon clinched the game with his free-throws in the overtime period. Uni was then outshot by the soon to be City Champion Crenshaw Cougars. Besides losing the game, the Warriors lost the services of quick, all-around player, Ed Jackson, who severely sprained an ankle.

Casey "Pistol Pete" Corliss (1st team All-League, 2nd team All-City) almost single-handedly beat Westchester, scoring 30 points and showing an amazing ball-handling quality rare in a person of his 6'6" stature. Following this game, Uni went on to massacre Palisades at Pali's home court, in what Coach Anderson considered the best game of the year for the Warriors. Co-Captain Jeff Lipscomb (1st team All-League) played his best game, scoring 21 points and Henry Tom, filling the starting role of injured Ed Jackson, made key assists and steals.

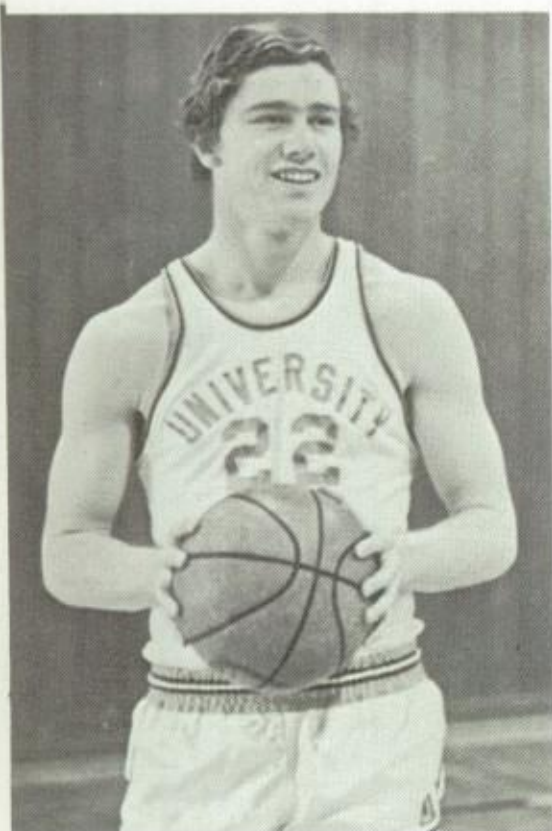

Greg "Sidney" Garrison (2nd team All-League) led the way for Uni's fourth win by stopping Venice's All-League forward and scoring 20 points. His intimidating stare and quickness made Uni's full court press work, and he was tough under the boards. Greg Sanchez, recovering from a broken ankle also tossed in 14 points. Sanchez, almost fully recovered, played a strong game the following week as the Warriors whipped Hamilton.

He was strong defensively and tossed in 15 points along with Corliss' 22 and Lipscomb's 25.

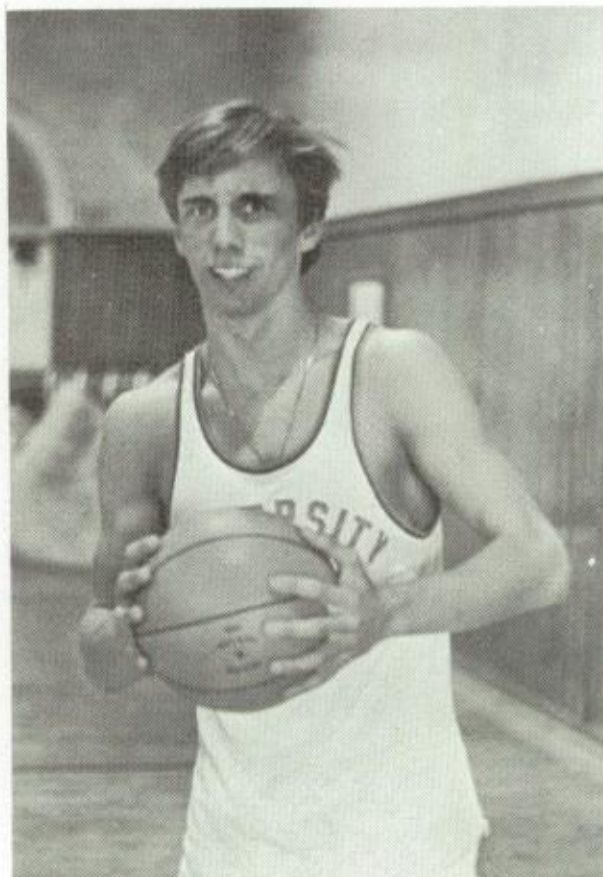

Uni dropped the next game to the same old foe, the Crenshaw Cougars. Again Crenshaw shot well from the outside. Corliss was high-point man with 21. The Warriors then proceeded to demoralize Westchester in the next game. A strong press, led by "Blaze" Garrison, and good shooting by Leo Schwartz, Brian Nash and Rick Bonyng were the key.

Our next foe was Pali. Meaning a playoff spot, the important game was played at Hollywood High on NBC's game of the week. Both teams played evenly for the first half. It wasn't until the waning minutes of the fourth quarter where a bad shot selection by the Warriors and hot shooting by the Dolphins placed Pali on top.

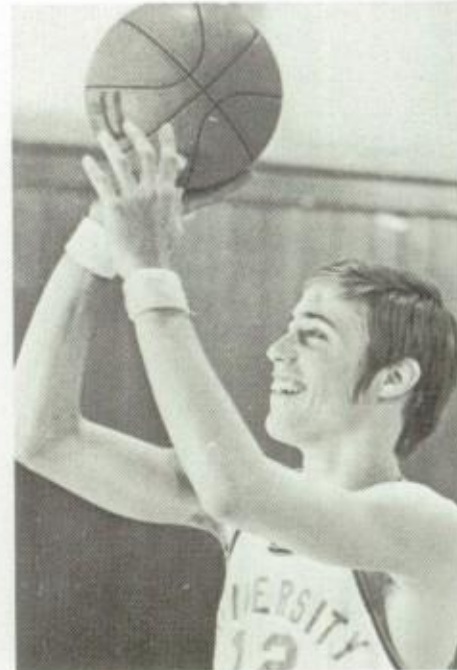

Reserves this year included Brian Nash—a steady player who figures to start next year; and Richard Wohlstadter—another junior, who, because of bad knees, didn't play up to full potential, but also looks strong for next season. Graduating Seniors include: Rick Bonyng—a strong jumper and excellent defensive player who drives the middle well; Lee Nicholl—who plays the game well in almost all departments; Leo Schwarz—a fine outside shooter and defensive player; and Lew Belcher—a transfer from Chicago, who had trouble adjusting to Uni's style of play, but still gave it his all.

I would like to thank you all, those of you I got to know and those of you that remained unknown. For the many ways you helped me to enrich my experience here. I've just had a very fulfilling beautiful year and I probably never will be able to forget teachers, kids, and other factors that are combining to "the mood of Uni."

Last summer I had the opportunity to live with a Thai family in Soagkhla, Thailand. The life of the Thais is so extremely different from ours that at first adjusting to their language and culture was difficult, but my concerned Thai family and friends gently helped me with the transition. The friendships which developed and the learning experiences I had made the summer one I will always remember.

Donna Nagata—exchange student to Australia

1970 was certainly the most fulfilling and enjoyable year of my life. I spent the entire year living in a suburb of Sydney, Australia. During that time, I feel I met some of the most fabulous and warm people ever, who really were able to show me how to relax and live. I was constantly exposed to new experiences; ranging from working on construction sites, to visiting Australia's Parliament House. There was so much to be learned in all I did. But the real value in the whole year, was that I am remembering Australia as the people with whom I had such close ties, and not so much as a country with different physical characteristics. I loved every minute I was there.

Earnestly working after school, and with no class credit, thirty girls got together to express their spirit by re-establishing the Uni drill team. Without any experience, these girls prepared drills in conjunction with the Marching Band, in half time entertainment for all of Uni's football games.

We salute these girls for their steadfastness and enthusiasm.

Girls' League Service

A year ago the Girls' League Board of Community Service was created. Its purpose was to serve the community and among its projects for the semester was the collection of donated toys for the Edwards' Air Force Base Pediatric Ward and Clinic. On Oct. 17, 1970, the toys were delivered to an overjoyed staff at the base. Another project was a Christmas party at the Wilton Place Extended Day Care Center. The board made stuffed animals, puppets and coloring books which were distributed to the kids. They also played games, sang songs and had refreshments.

Susan Dettmer, Girl's League Vice-president; Mrs. Bloom, sponsor of the Board of Community Service; Miriam Prum, chairman of the Board of Community Service.

Innovative Program School sends students into the community-at-large for a look at the so called "real world."

The idea is to open up the community as an "educational resource."

Though it is too early to evaluate the experiment, which fulfills all state requirements, there are concrete indications that youths are erasing the line between "here" and "out there."

Groups of students are involved in such exotic projects as communal living and manufacturing life in a laboratory.

"The main idea of the program is that kids would have time to pursue what interested them most."

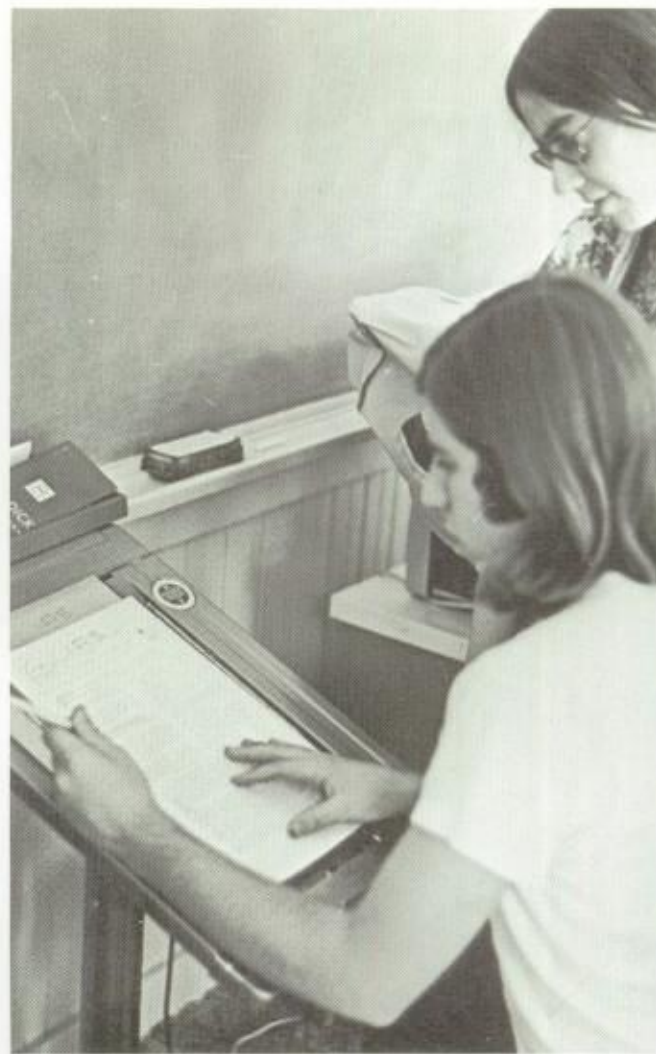

At first there was a lot of cutting classes, but a "goof off" period was anticipated because of the freedom the kids were faced with all of a sudden.

Five teachers are responsible for the total curriculum, and spend their time among regularly scheduled classes, group counseling, and individual counseling.

Dozens of student tutors from nearby UCLA have volunteered their time, offering further extensive academic help for those youths having problems.

They feel they've tapped a very rich source of outside help. Education doesn't begin when you walk in the gate at 8 in the morning and it doesn't end when you leave in the afternoon.

There is a development of independence and a real interest in learning. The students feel for the first time they have a stake in planning their education.

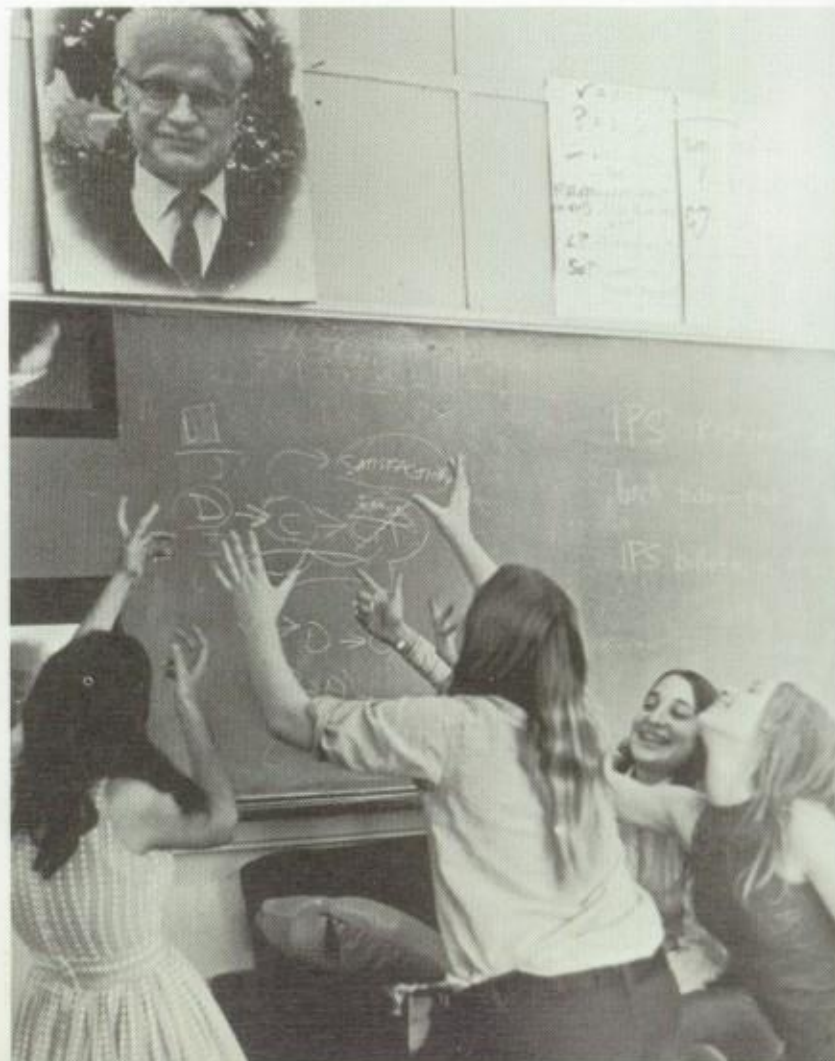

What is perhaps the most positive aspect of the program, is that students are not apt to hide their deficiencies from teachers. With personal interaction and individual goals stressed, the youths now more readily discuss their educational shortcomings.

The IPS staff consists of one administrative coordinator, Miss Elinor Offenbach, who works with students, faculty, parents, and community resources.

The parent coordinator, Mrs. Sandra Bernstein, who works with parents in the community provides community resources, monies needed, transportation, and other important services.

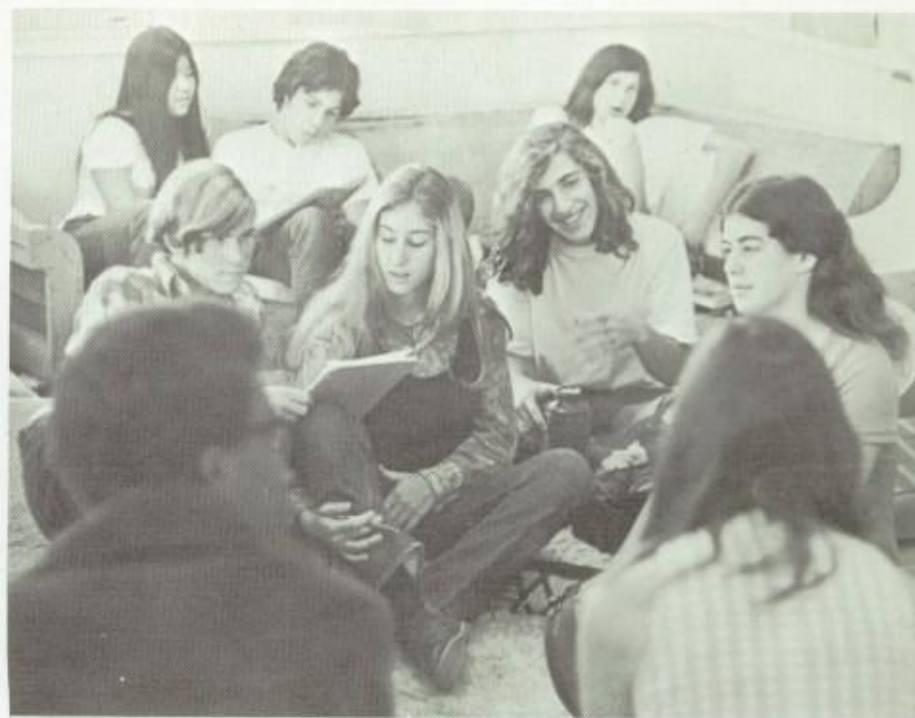

The real strengths, however, seem apparent today in the attitudes of high school students eager to delve into new educational worlds.

Here We Go Again

Spring Student

Our spring semester at Uni has been a unique one, involving "action" concerning the needs and wants of our student body. General directions toward school policy were of top priority, not concentrating mainly on activities which only cater to a minority of students, as it has been in the past.

For the first time at Uni we experimented with a Convocation in an attempt to define the role of students, faculty and administration. We defined and discussed the problems and through group thinking we arrived at definite conclusions. The results showed that students are mainly concerned with quality education and that many areas of our curriculum and teaching methods are out-of-date and that they do not stimulate learning in our classrooms.

As a result of the Convocation we have concentrated on solving some of the problems. Through guest speakers, innovative classes, and curriculum changes we have taken the first step toward reform in our education.

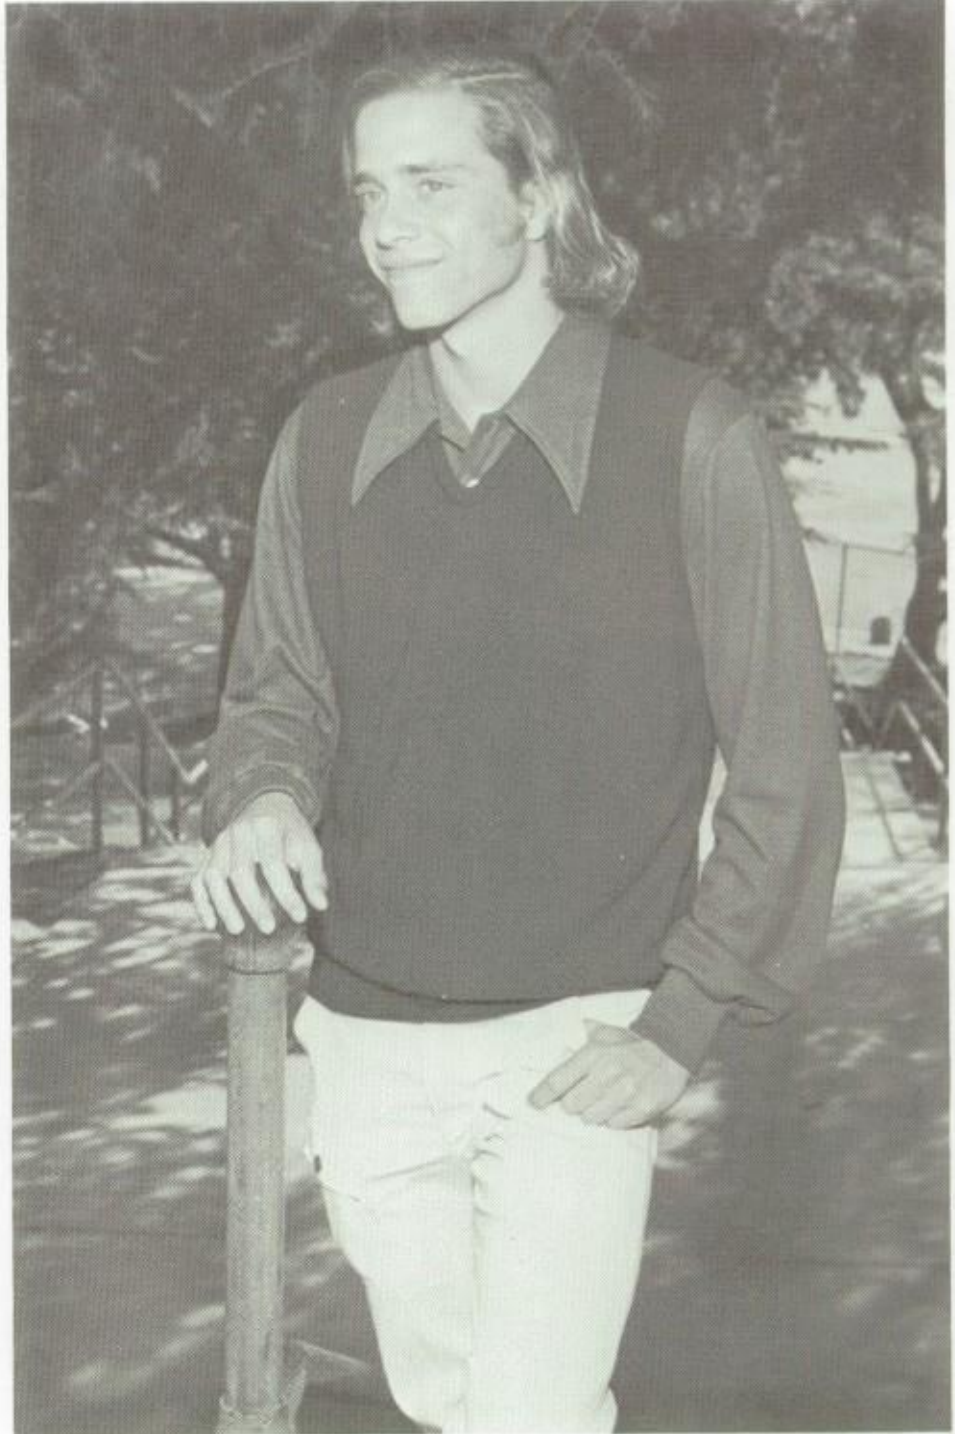

Reform also came in our "lunch pass" as the requirements were dropped, enabling more students to leave campus for lunch.

This semester we also had the Black and Chicano Festivals, both concerned with achieving understanding between the different social and racial backgrounds present at Uni.

The student Body's complete support of our Candy Drive made it the most successful in Uni's history. From the profits we were able to finance our athletic program, and to buy several items, such as projectors and tape recorders, for the improvement of Uni's education and classroom activities. We also began a film library which will help students to gain a better visual concept of what they are learning.

There have been many accomplishments this semester and all of them have succeeded because of the enthusiasm and interest of the student body. In the past, apathy was a problem, but this semester we have initiated programs which have made apathetic persons realize that their disinterest has never solved anything. With the student body working together on problems which they are tired of neglecting, some of these have been solved.

I greatly appreciate all the help the student body has given me in obtaining many of our goals for Uni. It shows that at Uni, interest and concern for one's school and education has not diminished. Students at Uni have realized that their three years in high school are as interesting and motivating as we make it. I just hope that the interest that was shown this semester at Uni will be shown in years to come.

Spring G.A.A. Yoga becomes co-ed.

Chikako Shigemori silhouetted on the Balance Beam.

To enable more girls to participate together in G.A.A. activities, we started off this spring with a Bake Sale. From the money raised, we held a sports day with Dorsey High, where we competed in such sports as tennis, volleyball, softball and gymnastics. After the activities, an informal Bar-B-Q was held, where awards were presented, and the girls from Uni and Dorsey got to know each other better.

During the year, we competed in tennis, basketball, volleyball, softball, and gymnastics against many schools including Venice, Dorsey, Pali and L.A. High. Uni made a good show, but as the saying goes "you win some, and you lose some." Other activities which were offered this year were beginning tennis, swimming, yoga and coed teacher-student bowling which proved to be a successful experiment. Whether you enjoy competing against other schools or just want to have a good time, G.A.A. offers fun for all girls interested in participating in sports and meeting new friends.

Closing the school year is always most difficult and filled with nostalgia. But this current year was really the school "year that was." The general cut-backs in the educational program left its imprint on Uni. Our school within a school, the I.P.S., proved to be an exciting and creative experiment. There will be the remembrance of Convocation Day and its impact on Uni. February 9, 1971 will stand out as a "shakey day" for many of us, as wheels came to a two day standstill because of the earthquake! Girls remain the "sweetest" as they out sold the boys in a candy drive which saw Uni students sell over $30,000 worth of candy.

Good-byes are always most sorrowful, especially to old friends, but to many, particularly our graduating seniors, it is only the beginning. To others it remains only a summer good-bye as Uni will greet them in September. To our teachers we give our appreciation for their assistance and guidance throughout this year; to those teachers who are retiring this year we save a fond remembrance in our hearts as they leave Uni and teaching after years of service.

Many special thanks to those who made possible the assembling and printing of this 1971 Chieftain—Miss Addison for keeping the account straight; Mr. Powell of the American Yearbook Company for his understanding; and the Davis Studio for their willing assistance always; and above all, thanks to you, Mr. Nikirk, our Chieftain Sponsor, for your untiring steadfastness which has brought this book to realization.
